PICKPOCKETS YESTERDAY.

Some Citizens Relieved of Snug Sums of Money.

James Kennard of Kennard was a sight-seeer in Maysville yesterday and while standing on Sutton street enjoying the speech of Hon. A. E. Willson during the afternoon was relieved of $20 in money.

The thief unbreeched Mr. Kennard's revolver, threw the loads in his pocket in case Mr. Kennard discovering his loss would shoot some bystander, and then reached for the money.

The case was reported and the police went to work.

Mr. S. W. Nash of Cottageville, while standing in the crowd, also had his pocket looted of $15.50.

Mr. Jacob Wormald caught a man in the act of going through his pocket, but Mr. Wormald had no money for him and he let the thief go.

TEDDY'S DAY!

DIVINE WEATHER.

Six Thousand People Greet the Gallant Rough Rider.

It was Teddy's Day!

And a bright and beautiful one it was, showing that all Nature smiled in unison with the occasion.

If the drenching rain which fell in 1896 during the visit of Mr. Bryan was a precursor of the terrible "swamping" of the "Boy Orator" that followed at the hands of the voters a few weeks later, certainly yesterday's sunshine is an indication of the brilliant victory that is to follow in the wake of Republicanism next month.

Colonel Roosevelt's special train did not reach the city until 4:45, but the large crowd was entertained for more than two hours by a speech from Hon. Augustus E. Willson of Louisville, who, by the way, is a Maysville boy.

Mr. Willson's speech is said by those who heard it to have been one of the most logical, instructive and entertaining ever delivered in this city.

He held his large audience enraptured for two hours and forty-five minutes, and only gave way upon the arrival of Governor Roosevelt's special train, the approach of which was greeted by such an outburst as was perhaps never heard in this city before.

The local arrangements were admirable, and as the train stopped opposite the platform the police cleared, a passage-way and Governor Roosevelt was led to the stand and introduced by Editor Davis of THE LEDGER.

Within the limits allotted to the Governor it was hardly expected—indeed it was unreasonable to expect—that he should make anything in the nature of a speech, as his scheduled time gave him less than fifteen minutes at this point.

What he said in that brief space, however, was of great import to Kentucky.

He implored them to preserve inviolate the sacred right of suffrage accorded to every man, be he Democrat, Republican, Populist or what-not—the inalienable right to cast his vote and to have that vote counted as it was cast.

He dwelt briefly on the modern "fad" of Imperialism, and showed the utter fallacy of such a claim.

It is safe to say that the presence of Governor Roosevelt, not only in Maysville but throughout Kentucky at large, will have a wonderful influence in moulding opinion.

It has given the Republicans new heart, while the Goebelized Democracy is correspondingly depressed.

His tour through this state has been one of marked triumph, and everywhere, with the possible exception of Elizabethtown, he has been received with that marked courtesy due a distinguished guest.

Previous to the Governor's arrival in this city he had delivered seven speeches during the day, beginning at Lexington as early as 8 o'clock a. m.

At Ashland at 1 o'clock he was greeted by an immense crowd, made up mostly of the sturdy workers in the mines and mills of that county.

At Greenup and at Vanceburg he also had large crowds, the one at the latter place exceeding any ever assembled at the capital of the State of Lewis.

The crowd in attendance here is variously estimated at from 5,000 to 7,000, and it was one of the most representative and orderly assemblages ever gathered in Maysville.

Notwithstanding the surly demeanor and half concealed mutterings of some of the Goebelites—in which THE LEDGER is sorry to say some so-called officials took an eager part—there was not the slightest disturbance of any kind. These fellows can be forgiven, perhaps, on the ground that Goebellism is dying hard—but it will be a long time dead.

Hon. W. A. Gaines, colored, of Covington will speak at 7:30 tomorrow evening at Scott Chapel.
